Where will you take it?

This question often arises after you have consulted the best (not the cheapest) physician you know, and have received his prescription.

It should go to the best druggist you know—one who will use only the right kind of drugs, and will not try to fill it if he hasn't the right kind.

It should go to the druggist who will exercise the greatest care in getting the right drug, and the right quantity, and will go over his work several times to be sure he is right.

We conduct our prescription business as the best druggist should, and that is an answer to the question, "Where will you take it?"

SESSION NOTES.

OTTAWA, April 29, '99.

In the railway committee this morning Bostock made a strong plea on behalf of the citizens of Moyie, B. C., on the line of the C. N. P. railway for the location of a station at that point. The company had located stations at each side where there was no mines and no population. Moyie had both mines and population, but the company would not give a station there, as they said because the ground is not suitable, but as the Moyie people insisted because the railway company were not given more than a fair share of the town site.

The minister of railways said that he had received complaints from the Moyie people, and believed that like complaints had been made from many other points. Under the agreement with the Crow's Nest pass railway the government had the power to protect the interests of the Moyie people by requiring the erection of a station, and intimated that on receipt of full information, if the circumstances warranted, the government would protect them. He also intimated his intention of introducing an amendment to the general railway act making provision for protection of the public interest by the government in future similar cases.

On Monday, Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced that the business of the session would be as follows: Budget, Pacific Cable, Drummond Counties railway purchase, Senate reform resolutions, Redistribution bill, railway subsidies, Supplementary estimates. Besides these the premier said that one or two other matters of minor importance may be introduced, but were not mentioned by him. A sufficiently long programme to warrant good use being made of time, if the session is not to be dragged beyond a reasonable length.

The past week has made some little advance in the business of the session. Two full days spent on the estimates and a number of important questions of principle dealt with by way of motions and bills. The government has given notice that hereafter Thursday will be taken for government business, making three government days out of the five working days of the week. This means that the government is ready to go on with business. A most welcome intimation, as we are now in the full heat of summer weather. Winter lingered long, and still banks of snow can be seen in sheltered places, but the days are bright and hot and the grass is green all about parliament hill. Trees are budding, but no leaves are seen yet. Seeding has not yet commenced in the Ottawa valley, but no doubt will in a few days. Further west along Lake Ontario the snow went away long before it did here, and seeding is well under way; while still further west and south along Lake Erie, it is nearly over, grass is green, trees are in leaf and flowers in bloom. It is the vast difference in climate found in Eastern Canada within a few miles that gives such an exaggerated idea there of the severity of weather in the Northwest because of its latitude. It is perfectly plain to those who have been both east and west that the influences governing the climate in the two regions are not at all alike. But this is not generally understood or believed here. To most people the world is just what they see.

The estimates were taken up again yesterday. The principle discussion was on the item for printing voters' lists under the new franchise act. The government only asked enough money to print lists required in bye-elections, while the opposition demanded that the whole lists should be printed each year at whatever cost. The point attempted to be made was against the cheapness, work ability and fairness of the new franchise act the opposition apparently accepting as a labor of love the work of making the new act appear if possible as expensive, unfair and unwieldy as the old one.

In the senate it was brought out that possibly the British government will not fall in with the new Pacific cable project. If they should not and the project fall through, there would be very few tears shed by the majority of the government supporters, who look upon the proposed expenditure with but slight favor.

The ferocity of the attack on Mr. Bostock's bill regarding railway passes for members of parliament by the leader of the opposition, and the coolness with which it was slaughtered at the second reading without a vote in the house, will scarcely be accepted by the country as evidence of the absolute independence of members of parliament of favors extended to them by railway companies. If the granting of passes is a favor, it implies an obligation, and is therefore objectionable. If it is not a favor by reason of long and universally established custom, then there can be no serious material objection to making it compulsory. For custom has to a large extent the force of law. If the law would not be right then the custom is not right. The certificate which each speaker gave to the independence of his fellow members in the railway committee was certainly very touching, but unfortunately the net result of the work of that committee, from year to year, has been to permit, if not to aid continued aggressions of the railway companies. Three parts of the time of the committee has been taken up in deciding between railway companies or projects, to one part employed in protecting the purely public interest in railway legislation. Truly railway passes may have nothing to do with the obliquity of view sometimes taken in that committee: but as long as the railways continually get the best of the public at the hands of parliament, and the members of parliament are continually under personal obligations to the railways, so long the public may be expected to consider the two parts of the admitted fact as respectively cause and effect. The pass question is an outgrowth of new railway conditions and is being continually accentuated by those conditions. If the leaders in parliament think there is no such question, or that it is not pressing for settlement, they are the only people in the country who do think so. Mr. Bostock's bill may not have been the best method of dealing with it. But he is entitled to every credit for having been the man to bring it forward for discussion, and for standing by it until it was thrown out on the responsibility of the house. His financial position and reputation are such as to admit of no question as to the disinterestedness of his motives in the matter.

OTTAWA, May 2, '97.

From time to time during the past two sessions the conservative party organs have busied themselves with rumors of discipline to be applied to supporters of the government who had not always been as subservient to the party leaders. They were no doubt judging their opponents by themselves. Just what party discipline implies, as understood by the present opposition, was shown in an interesting manner during Monday's session. The member to whom the lash was applied was Hon. John Costigan, for many years a member of the conservative ministry and by virtue thereof now occupying a front seat on the opposition side of the house, next but one to Sir Charles Tupper. Mr. Costigan had the hardihood to oppose the efforts of Hon. Geo. G. Foster, first lieutenant in the conservative party, to run the recent provincial elections in New Brunswick on party lines; and, what aggravated the offence, had the best of the fight. To this was added his recent vote in the house against the Yukon amendment to the address proposed on the strength of Sir Hibbert Tupper's speech. He had therefore opposed both the lieutenant and his leader. The duty of administering the necessary party discipline devolved upon Dr. Roche, M. P. for Marquette, who took the part of the prisoner who applies the cat to the back of his fellow; a duty which the sheriff, deputy sheriff, or jailor, (the leader of the party, his lieutenant or the regular party whip) either dared not or would not degrade themselves to perform. The peg upon which the attack was hung was the resignation of one W. J. Christie from the inland revenue department in Winnipeg. It appears that H. A. Costigan, son of the member, had been in inland revenue employ in Winnipeg. On a suitable occasion occurring during the past summer he had been transferred to Ottawa. T. E. Gosnell, then of the same department at Calgary, was promoted to the position left in Winnipeg by Costigan's transfer, and Christie was ordered to Calgary to replace Gosnell at $200 a year salary more than he was getting in Winnipeg. Christie refused to go to Calgary and demanded promotion to Costigan's position in Winnipeg. This was refused and after impertinent correspondence on his part he was asked to resign. Apparently he had afterwards placed the correspondence in the party's hands for the purpose of making trouble and thereby getting even for his alleged grievances. Costigan's transfer, (or alleged promotion) by Costigan himself, it will be seen, had nothing whatever to do with the grievances of Christie, except that his transfer left the vacancy which Christie demanded but did not get. Notwithstanding this Dr. Roche read into Hansard letters from Christie accusing Costigan of having misappropriated money and the government of shielding him. Dr. Roche put the case in his own words as follows:

"Now this is a very serious accusation—that a gentleman acting as collector of customs at Winnipeg, was residing in the United States from time to time and for long periods of time, having funds of the government in his possession, and no steps taken by the government; but instead the position kept open, the gentleman's salary going on all the time, and paid by this government."

Dr. Roche's effort was plainly directed towards indicating an obligation towards the government on the part of Costigan on account of its treatment of his son; with the further inference that this was the reason of Mr. Costigan's action in New Brunswick and the house, rather than any matter of conviction or principle—something which the present conservative leaders apparently do not possess or even understand and, therefore, are not willing to concede to others.

Hon. Mr. Costigan felt the attack very keenly, but replied in moderate terms. His son had been transferred from a first class collectorship at Winnipeg where he had a salary of $2,200 to a collectorship at Ottawa at a salary of $1,600. When the papers were brought down they would not sustain the allegation that his son was a defaulter for a length of time. He went to the States on official duty under instructions from the inspector. The incident is generally conceded to have been one of the most discreditable in party tactics in Ottawa; and reflects the character of those whose motives of revenge prompted it.

OTTAWA, May 2, 99.

CROW'S NEST RAILWAY RATES.

Mr. McInnes asked:

Did the Canadian Pacific Railway Company submit to the governor-in-council for approval and revision its rates and tolls on the Crow's Nest Pass branch, and on its lines connecting with such branch, as contemplated by clause "c" of the agreement between the government and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company respecting the building of the said branch?

2. If so did the governor-in-council alter the said rates and tolls as submitted for approval or revision, or in what respect, if any?

3. In the exercise of the powers contained in said clause "c," what steps have been taken by the government, of any kind, to secure reasonable rates and tolls over the said branch and connecting lines?

The minister of railways and canals (Mr. Blair) answered:

No, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company have not submitted to the governor-in-council for approval and revision its rates and tolls on the Crow's Nest Pass branch and on its lines connecting with the said branch.

CALGARY & EDMONTON RAILWAY LANDS.

Mr. Oliver asked:

1. What amount of land has been earned by the Calgary & Edmonton Railway Company?

2. What amount of land has been selected by them and agreed to as being theirs by the government?

3. What amount of land is still due them, and why has it not been granted?

4. Has the land selected and agreed to as being theirs been patented to them?

5. If not patented, is it taxable for school and other local purposes under authority of the Northwest government?

6. If not taxable for these purposes, is it the intention of the government to place it in such a position that it will be taxable?

The minister of the interior (Mr. Sifton) answered:

1. The Calgary & Edmonton Railway Company have earned 1,888,448 acres of land.

2. The company have selected and had passed to them by order-in-council 1,757,826 acres (including the 407,402 acres held by the government as security for the earning of the $80,000 per annum subsidy for twenty years for carriage of mails, &c).

3. Area still due to the company is 130,622 acres. It has not been granted because the company have not as yet selected it.

4. No, except in some small individual parcels, as the company have not asked for patents.

5. No.

6. The government has not yet arrived at any conclusion in regard to the matter.

OTTAWA, May 4, 99.

The annual statement of the financial standing of the country, the contents of its revenues and the announcement of its fiscal policy for the ensuing year, commonly called the budget speech, was delivered on Tuesday by the minister of finance, Hon. W. S. Fielding. It was a long speech, full of figures, all bearing on the one point that the trade of the country and the revenues of the government were in a more flourishing condition than ever before in the history of Canada. Foreign trade had increased during the past two years nearly ten million dollars more than it had increased in the preceding eighteen years. The revenue had increased from $40,555,238 for last year to an estimated revenue of $46,632,498 for the current year. At the same time the customs duties were $3,600,000 less than they would have been at the same amount of imports under the tariff of 1896. The expenditure had increased and also the debt, by reason of the heavy canal works, and railway subsidies, but the rate of increase was less than under the late government.

1894 increase of debt,	$4,501,989
1895 " "	6,891,897
1896 " "	5,462,505
1897 " "	3,041,163
1898 " "	2,417,802
1899 " estimated,	1,700,000

Although the debt had increased by reason of capital expenditures the revenue showed a handsome and increasing surplus over ordinary expenditure, which surplus was applied on capital expenditure. In the year '96 there was a deficit of $519,000. In '97 a surplus of $1,722,715 and in the current year a surplus was estimated of $4,600,000.

Under the late government while the debt had been increased so largely the average yearly increase of ordinary expenditure was $427,594.

The expenditure per head of population on ordinary account had increased from $4 in 1898 to $5.50 in 1898. In '91 and following years it was: '90, $7.50, '91, $7.50, '92, $7.50, '93, $7.50, '94, $7.50, '95, $7.50, '96, $7.50, '97, $7.50, '98, $7.50, '99, $7.50, showing that the expenditure per head for ordinary purposes had been reduced.

The most remarkable and satisfactory statement was in regard to the increase of Canada's foreign trade. In '95 the imports were 110 millions and in '98 over 140 millions. In '96 the exports were 115 millions and in '98 165 millions. The balance of trade in favor of Canada was 18 millions in '97 and nearly 22 millions in '98. The only other year since Confederation which showed a balance in favor of Canada were '93 3 millions, '95 24 millions and '90 13 millions. All other years since Confederation showed a balance against Canada of from 13 millions in 1870 to 45 millions in '75 and 34 millions in '93.

Trade with the West Indies had fallen off of recent years, but since allowing the preference of 25 per cent on West India sugar from there showed an increase of $37,000 during the past six months over the corresponding period last year. Canadian exports to the West Indies also showed an improvement. In 1898 it was generally understood that West India sugar had practically a preference of 25 per cent in United States markets over beet sugar from Europe; as the United States, to protect their cane growers, levied an extra duty on beet sugar equal to the bounty which it had received where grown in Europe. West India sugar had the advantage over European sugar to the amount of this extra duty; hence the direction of West India trade towards the States.

The preference extended to British goods had not resulted in such increase of imports from that country as compared with those from the States as had been hoped for; partly because British manufacturers were too busy trying to reach out for new fields. But there had been a steady decline in British imports as compared with American before the preferential tariff was introduced. That decrease had been arrested and changed to an increase which it might fairly be hoped was only the beginning of a revival of inter-imperial trade. Although Britain had not placed any preference for Canadian goods on the statute book, British dealers had given Canadian goods a preference, as was shown by the substantial increase in Canadian exports to Britain, which had increased from 77 millions in 1897 to 104 millions in 1898.

The minister read a long list of articles which had been made free under the new tariff giving the former rates of duty. The list included: Binder twine formerly 12 1/2 per cent; barbed fence wire 3-4 c per pound; Indian corn 7 1/2 a bushel; steel bar manufacturing axes, sythes, forks, etc., $10 a ton.

He also read a list of dutiable goods comparing the former with the present rates, showing a reduction of from 5 to 10 per cent.

No changes would be proposed in the tariff at this session. While it was not claimed that the tariff was perfect it was thought better to allow it to stand for a time to allow of a fuller experience before making any changes. The preferential feature had only been in operation nine months which was not sufficient to fully test it. There were also the negotiations in Washington in prospect which might result in requiring further changes. He did not hold out much prospect of a reciprocity treaty, however, and intimated that although a favorable treaty was desirable Canada was never in as good a position to get along without reciprocity with the United States as now.

The coal oil duty was still so high as to arouse much opposition and the finance minister would have little peace until he made further reductions. It was not intended to further reduce the duty at this session, but the regulations as to inspection would be so simplified as to ensure the full advantage of transport in tank cars and vessels to points of consumption. Oil will be inspected at the refinery or at the boundary. Any oil not coming up to the proper standard found in Canada will be confiscated. There will be no inspection fee and no requirement of barreling. It is believed that this will to a considerable extent check the oil to the consumer, although not disturbing the tariff. In conclusion, the minister advised caution on the part of the business interests of the country. We could not expect the present favorable conditions of trade to last very long.

INQUEST.

The post mortem examination on the body of Lottie Brunette was held at St. Albert on Monday afternoon, the post mortem being made by Drs. Tierney and Whitlaw. After viewing the body the jury returned to Edmonton and the inquest was commenced on Tuesday afternoon at the police barracks, and continued again last afternoon, when it was again adjourned until Saturday afternoon. Some thirteen witnesses have been examined so far, and the taking of evidence will be continued on Saturday.

The evidence as yet has developed nothing new as to the cause of the crime, nor has anything been brought to light which would change the first impression of a double suicide.

The doctors who made the post mortem gave their report yesterday. The contents of the stomach were sent for analysis and until receiving a report thereon they were unable to state definitely as to the nature of the poison taken.

SUPREME COURT.

Court opened on Tuesday before Mr. Justice Rouleau.

Regina vs. Sykulics. Charged with uttering forged cheque. Accused pleaded guilty and was released on suspended sentence. Beck, Q. C., for prosecution, H. H. Robertson for prisoner.

W. S. Robertson vs. S. S. Taylor. Action for $715.00 for breach of duty and negligence. Case arose out of the old Wilkie and Jellett suits. Jellett recovered judgment against E. & S. Land Co., and Robertson, as deputy sheriff, registered executions against their lands. Wilkie, of Toronto, claiming the land was his, sued Jellett and Robertson to have executions released. Wilkie's suit succeeded, leaving Robertson, who had been acting merely as a court official, liable for damages and costs. Hence the present action. Robertson claimed that Taylor, who was acting as his solicitor should have advised him to stand aside and let the suit proceed against the principal, and his neglect to do so was culpable negligence. All the evidence is in and argument takes place to-morrow morning. Beck, Q. C., and J. C. F. Down for plaintiff. Defendant is defending in person. H. H. Robertson for defendants other than Taylor.

EARLY CLOSING.

The Edmonton clerks' association has sent out 1,500 posters through the town and surrounding country, notifying the public of the early closing movement, which takes effect on the 15th inst.; and earnestly requesting that the public—and the residents of Edmonton in particular—co-operate with the merchants and assist them by doing their trading and business generally before 7 p. m. except on Saturday's and days immediately preceding holidays.

The following merchants have signed the early closing agreement, and no doubt the public will meet the clerks' association half way in its very reasonable request:

Hudson's Bay Co., McDougall & Secord, Garriep & Chenier, Larue & Picard, Ross Bros., J. L. Johnson & Co., Stovel & Strang, H. Sigler, J. T. Montgomery as to groceries and provisions, H. Astley, E. Don't Take Your Carpets Up!

Carpets Cleaned and Colors Restored without Removing from the Floor, by the

TURKISH RUG and CARPET CLEANING PROCESS

T. J. FURNIVAL, Manager.

I respectfully call your attention to our new cleaning process, the only method in existence which will take Grease Spots, Paint, Coal Dust, Lamp Black, Soot and Stains out of Carpets. That carpets cleaned by this process will remain clean as long as new carpet, has been fully tested; that it is absolutely MOTH PROOF and will restore the colors; that it is a disinfectant, rendering the carpets clean and healthy when sickness or disease has been in the room. We ask a candid investigation of our work. Our process of cleaning is no longer an experiment, but a demonstrated success since 1884. It raises the nap and leaves it soft like new, and restores the lustre of their original brilliancy. It covers everything and is a perfect cleaner. Drop us a card or leave orders at Potter & McDonald's and we will be pleased to call and show you samples.

A Blessing from God and Holy Tonga.

The greatest scientific discovery of a century has just been made in tropical Polynesia, on the island of Tongatabu, or Holy Tonga, in the South Seas. From investigation among the tropical forests, the medical authorities among the tropical forests, a preparation, known to the natives for years, and jealously guarded by them as a profound secret, was found possessing a marvelous influence on the human system in health and disease. It is known to the natives of the Friendly Islands as Mamas. It is a delightful, safe, and marvelous cure for all ailments which affect the blood and system with giant cells; cells must be irritated or life wanes. It creates prodigious capillary circulation, nutrition, nerve power, and vital force; in a few days it restores and recuperates the very low, weak and wasted, given up to die patient, and in a few hours it will remove the dry, black coating from the tongue of half unconscious cases, putting their feet in a few days. Invalids who have been bed-ridden for years gain five pounds a week, and eat three meals in one. Many consumptive wastes to a skeleton, with yellow sputa, hectic, and night sweats, have been cured in from one to three months. Mamas has cured hundreds of such cases when all the best directed efforts of science has failed. It is a true tonic, and in a few days it restores and recuperates the very low, weak and wasted, given up to die patient, and in a few hours it will remove the dry, black coating from the tongue of half unconscious cases, putting their feet in a few days. SWIFT CURRENT GOLD.

The Golden Era of the 5th, says that the first party to arrive from Tete Jaune Cache on the opening of spring came in from Revelstoke on the 4th. The party consisted of Messrs. Stewart, Price and Owens. The Golden party and others are also on their way out. The only men now left in the country at the present are Messrs. Evans, McLaughlin, Jackson and Capt. Neal, the three latter of Stewart's party, of Edmonton.

Regarding the alleged strike Mr. Price told the Era: "We got good rim prospects—at much as 50 cents to the pan of coarse gold. We then turned the stream into an old channel, and ran a drainage cut along the bed of the stream to a depth at the head of ten feet. Then we started a shaft 8 feet by 10 feet, which we had timbered well and had sunk to a depth of 35 ft. when the rising water of the spring freshet came in so quickly that we could not keep ahead of it and had to give up for the present. We had therefore not got to bed-rock so cannot say for certain whether there is or is not payable gold there. The wash is evidently very deep and heavy to work, for as we got down we came on large boulders which we had to break up with giant powder. There is no doubt that, to start with, the cost of proving this stream is going to be very great. The Allen law, of course, deprives me of placer privileges for the present, but my partner Mr. Evans will remain there for a time and I may go back to do further prospecting and to prosecute further work on Swift Current when low water will permit next fall.

"I am sorry to hear of the reports that have been circulated as to the richness of the field, for there is positively nothing developed so far to justify any such sensational reports. The story about $40 a day being taken out is nonsense, for as a matter of fact there has not been a dollar's worth of gold yet sent from the Allen. The only gold sent out was some I sent to Mr. McDermot last fall.

"Swift Current is very heavy glacial fed stream, and will always be difficult to work. The ground there would require to be very rich to be payable. We made a pump to try to cope with the water but could not do so when it rushed in through the gravel with the spring freshet. As we went down we made test panning, and certain got a little gold, and a good deal of iron, but it will be impossible to say anything definite as to the value of the ground till we get to bed-rock. The unsatisfactory thing about it so far is that in sinking the shaft we could not get gold anything like what we got at rim-rock."

REGARDING HARVEY STRATHIDE-LOST.

A. C. Strathides, of Brantford, Ont., whose son, Harvey Strathide, wandered away from camp near the Nelson river last year, and has never been heard of since, has received the following letter from F. D. Wilson, of the Hudson's Bay Co., Vermilion:

"In answer to your letter of the 1st November, relating the sad circumstances of your son's disappearance from your camp on 'Taylor's Trail,' last September.

"I might state that about the 1st of November, on the return of a party sent out from this post on a trading excursion to a point on the Hay river, 90 miles northwest from here, I was informed that an Indian had told them that while hunting some distance from Hay river, about the 1st of October, he had seen the body of a white man lying under a tree. The body was in a state of decomposition, and had been partly devoured by some animal.

"After being equipped with supplies for the winter, these Indians disperse for their hunting grounds and we do not see them again until spring.

"I have no doubt the body mentioned is that of your unfortunate son, I will try and get an Indian to go with one of our men next spring to the place, and bring in what clothing they can find, also the remains of the body for identification and burial."

The remains will probably be brought into Vermilion in June, and if they are those of young Strathide will be taken home for interment.

ANGUS, RIDGE

H. S. Jones, of Millbank, S. D., is visiting Johnson Thresh. He may settle here.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Munay arrived from South Dakota last week. They will become residents of Battle river school district.

The snow during the last few days has prevented farmers from seeding. It will however make the soil moist.

Miss Mary Nelles has been ill for a few days.

Geo. Larose is on the eve of selling his farm. He will live in the future in Minnesota.

Mr. Hamilton, our new missionary student, has reached Wetaskiwin. He will preach at Battle river next Sabbath.

The new flour mill about to be erected at Wetaskiwin this year will make it convenient for the farmers to get their grinding done.

Robert Angus, who had a severe attack of rheumatism, is improving slowly.

Mr. Manser moved to his farm a few weeks ago.

We trust that a bi-weekly mail will be started between Wetaskiwin and Duhamel. It will be difficult to do much work on Arbor day till we get the school play ground fenced.

It is about time some steps were taken to get a more suitable geography authorized in the Northwest. Alberta, one of the finest districts, should receive most prominence.

The Peace river country is attracting a good deal of attention here at present.

May 3, '99.

EDWA.

On the 27th ulto. a snow storm, with quite a blizzard, was here. Several falls since that date, so that on the 1st inst. we had a foot of snow. This change of weather has caused seeding to be suspended a full week.

We hear that the Pines school house has a tenant, also that Mr. Yerex's family are convalescent.

Mrs. Milsap died this morning at 3 o'clock. The funeral took place at 10 a. m. on Friday.
